- Play with various fibrous materials.
- Ways to creating exciting surface.
- ways to create off-the- deckle product.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Anyone interested irrespective of age - Children and Adult.

ANCHOR FACULTY

Vishnupriya Narayanan is an Alumna of the National Institute of Design. She has experience of working with paper for over 12 years. Her fondness for paper since her childhood has led her to revisit this material from the making centered perspective, where she derives joy in converting pulp directly to products in more than one.

Her approach focuses on questioning the very fundamentals of paper making, starting from the fibrous raw material, to its current method of making and lastly to reimagining its product nature. She enjoys working with young learners, and is ever excited sharing her knowledge on paper.
